NARRATIVE QUESTIONS

You've just received an invitation to yet another meeting. But, wait! This invitation is special. It is from one of the founders of Philanthropy Only Brighter, a global network of engaged philanthropists. You're in shock as you read the message:

"Hey! We met last winter at SVP Tucson's 2Gen event. We only spoke for a few minutes, but your story stuck with me. This is super short notice, but are you free to meet in one hour? This is a rare opportunity for you to meet with our Giving Committee and Founding Members. We will only have a few minutes to connect with you, but we are thrilled to learn more about the problem your organization wishes to solve. Hope to see you soon."

You immediately RSVP "Yes." Before you know it, your meeting has begun. You are warmly welcomed into the room and introduced to the team. You are amazed at the diversity, experience, dedication, and passion in this virtual room. You know you can't give another business proposal. They want to hear your passion, why you have dedicated yourself to your nonprofit, and how you're making a difference in your community.

Your ability to explain your impact in an effective and brief conversation will be critical to increasing their interest. You only have a few minutes to explain your focus, how effectively you could use their support, and how you will help your community. Each person in the meeting takes a turn asking you a different question. (1,000 character count with spaces)

24. Tell us about your organization, or if applicable, the specific program you are applying for. In brief, what would you like us to know?

25. Why are you focusing on the communities or populations that you serve?

26. How is your work informed and influenced by the communities or population(s) that you serve?

27. What are the critical issues you are trying to solve? Why these? How does your program work to address the root cause(s) of the issue(s)?

28. How is your approach unique and more effective than other organizations at addressing the same problem? Please be specific.

29. How are you measuring your short-term and long-term impact? How do your best results and stats compare to other solutions?

30. Give us a real-life example of your mission in action. How do you meaningfully change the lives of people in Southern Arizona?

The meeting is almost over. Everyone is saying thank you and goodbye. You are just about to leave the meeting when you are asked one last question:

31. Why do you want to be part of the Fast Pitch 2025 program?
